

Boston University: Postdoctoral Clinical Fellowship

POSTDOCTORAL CLINICAL FELLOWSHIP IN ADULT ANXIETY/MOOD DISORDERS AT THE CENTER FOR ANXIETY & RELATED DISORDERS AT BOSTON UNIVERSITY. The Center for Anxiety & Related Disorders (CARD) at Boston University invites applications for a post-doctoral clinical fellowship position in adult anxiety and mood disorders. Successful candidates will be involved in clinical responsibilities for a longstanding, NIMH-supported project on the classification, psychopathology, genetics, and course of anxiety and mood disorders. The primary duties for this position will be split between: (a) clinical intake and follow-up assessments for the NIMH-supported classification project, and (b) delivery of psychological treatments to outpatients at CARD. The position will provide postdoctoral clinical hours and supervision necessary for licensure. Although the primary responsibilities of the position are clinical in nature, ample time and opportunities are available for grant-related and independent research. Applicants should have completed their doctoral degree by the start of employment. Search remains open until positions are filled. Competitive salary and fringe benefits. To apply, send a curriculum vitae, letter of interest, and three letters of recommendation to: Dr. Timothy A. Brown, Center for Anxiety & Related Disorders, Boston University, 648 Beacon Street, 6th floor, Boston, MA 02215-2013 (applications may also be sent via email to tabrown@bu.edu). Boston University is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity employer.

Please see the website www.bu.edu/CARD for more info on anxiety disorders and their treatment.